Monday, a. m. --Music; memory gems; music. Tuesday, a. m. --Music; a story real or told; music. Wednesday, a. m. --Music; scripture reading; devotional exercises; music. Thursday, a. m. --Music; natural science experiments; music. Friday, a. m. --Music; news of the week; music. The teacher can require pupils to respond to roll call by reciting memory gems. Every teacher should provide a scrap book for preserving incidents, stories, discoveries, etc. , clipped from newspapers and magazines. A committee of pupils should be appointed each week to receive and tabulate such clippings. In these exercises, as in all others, the teacher should interest the pupils by enlisting them in the work. Calisthenic exercises may be introduced with profit and will be found interesting as well as conducive to health and beauty. Sometimes parents of pupils in the country schools object to what they term torn foolery in this direction. In such cases the teacher must exercise due caution and create a sentiment friendly to his plans. In this, as in other cases, the teacher will find himself opposed by those who should be most interested, and it is well to heed the Saviors admonition. Be wise as serpents but harmless as doves. MEMORY GEMS. THE following list of literary gems is necessarily brief. Such selections are given as seem best adapted to the different grades...
