Not illustrated. 1902 Excerpt: .Gauls who had reached the top of the rock found wide-awake men ready to meet them. 10. It was not so easy to capture the capitol as they had expected; and it was not long before an army from outside had arrived and helped the Romans to conquer their enemy. 11. The Romans were proud of the geese, and very grateful to them. In many of their processions they would have a goose on a cushion under a beautiful canopy, carried high where every one could see it. 12. Visitors from abroad were sometimes surprised to see such a bird treated with so much respect, and they were always told, This is in memory of the geese that once saved our city. Rome never forgets her defenders. pamela Mcarthur Cole, in Western School Journal. When falls the Coliseum, Rome shall fall; And when Rome falls--the world.--Byron. LESSON XLI.
